

Rachel Johnson

Lead Forensic Interview Specialist

Rachel Johnson has over a decade of experience in work related to child abuse, forensic interviewing, multidisciplinary teams, victimization, advocacy, prevention education, and family violence, both domestically and abroad. She currently works as Lead Forensic Interview Specialist with Zero Abuse Project where she provides training and technical assistance to child abuse professionals, designs and develops curriculum, and conducts forensic interviews at community-based centers.

Rachel most recently served as the Program Director for the Minnesota Children's Alliance. Prior to her work at the Alliance, Rachel served as a forensic interviewer and the Forensic Program Coordinator at First Witness Child Advocacy Center. She is trained in multiple forensic interview protocols. Rachel received Bachelor of Science degrees in Public Service, Sociology and Spanish at Hamline University in St. Paul, Minnesota.

Rachel is passionate about working directly with children and families, supporting front-line professionals and improving the institutional response to victimization by centering the experiences of victims at all levels of consideration and decision-making.
